

City Seminary

Sacramento

Course Descriptions – Summer/Fall 2007 Semesters

SUMMER 2007, June 4-July27

AP251/651 Modern Cults: A study of the modern cult phenomenon, examining the history and distinctives of popular cults.

Instructor: Rev. Eric D. Bristley, Th.M.

Hours: Two credit hours

Day/Time: Monday/Thursday, 6:30 PM – 8:00 PM

NT131/601 Advanced Greek Grammar: A study of Greek syntax: cases, moods, and tenses. The purpose is to acquaint the reader of the Greek New Testament with the linguistic constructions found in the New Testament.

Instructor: Dr. Frank Walker, Ph.D.

Hours: Two credit hours

Day/Time: Tuesday/Friday, 7:00 PM - 8:30 PM

Prerequisite: NT102

FALL 2007, September 8

OT101 Elements Hebrew I: A study of Old Testament Hebrew, including orthography, grammar, syntax and vocabulary, including selected readings from the Old Testament.

Instructor: Rev. Michael Voytek, M.Div.

Hours: Three credit hours

Day/Time: Monday/Thursday, 6:30 – 7:45 PM

NT381/681 New Testament History and Society: A view of the world in which the New Testament was written. This course will consider the political, cultural, philosophical, religious challenges faced by first-century believers and how they impacted the church.

Instructor: Dr. Frank Walker, Ph.D.

Hours: Two credit hours

Day/Time: Tuesday, 7:50 – 9:30 PM

OT201/601 Old Testament Survey I: A study of the Old Testament books (Genesis through the Song of Solomon), considering authorship, date, occasion, theme, purpose and outline.

Instructor: Rev. Michael Voytek, M.Div.

Hours: Two credit hours

Day/Time: Monday, 7:50 – 9:30 PM

AP101/501 Introduction to Apologetics: A study of the presuppositional method of apologetics as the proper Biblical strategy for defending the faith. Attention will be given to competing methodologies, including rationalism, empiricism (evidentialism) and irrationalism.

Instructor: Rev. Eric D. Bristley, Th.M.

Hours: Two credit hours

Day/Time: Saturday, 9:00 – 10:40 AM

NT411/711 Exegesis of Mark: Integrated exegetical study of Ephesians, including introduction, history, textual criticism and an evaluation of genres and themes.

Instructor: Dr. Frank Walker, Ph.D.

Hours: Two credit hours

Day/Time: Thursday, 7:50 – 9:40 PM

Prerequisite: NT131

ST191/591 Prolegomena: An examination of theological method, the nature of Biblical revelation, verbal inspiration, inerrancy and infallibility.

Instructor: Rev. Jim West, M.Div.

Hours: Two credit hours

Day/Time: Tuesday, 6:00 – 7:40 PM